

STMT
Kevin McCarthy
Chicago, 1966

My practice is a response to the sense that human existence has changed in an unseen but important way. That human imagination and reality have become seemingly indistinguishable. I see my role as an artist to create spaces for the viewer to connect to the magic of life on this planet.