

BIO

Gabe Goldman

Honolulu, HI, 1977

Gabriel Goldman is a self-taught painter and uses his vast experience as a creative director and designer to help inform his creative process. Gabriel has had an extensive career as a marketing and design agency owner three times over and his work has been featured in numerous design and cultural publications spanning 20 years.

Painting has become a way for Gabriel to test the boundaries of creativity and truly pursue art and his own inherent creativity on his own terms, free from commercial need or the mass consumerism of his design background.

It is a way to fully immerse himself in opening his soul to the public and sharing very raw, creative and personal emotions through art and help better define his own meaning of self.

Gabriel enjoys surfing, being in the ocean and snowboarding. He lives in Seattle with his wife Sydney and their three tween/teen children Ginger, Kainoa and Leilani. On any weekend you can either find him on the coast or on a mountain, always as a family.
