

Statement

Gabe Goldman

“My work is a reflection of my personal search for meaning in life. For the past 20 years I have worked as a professional creative - a designer, an agency owner and a marketer. I am a product of my dichotomies - mixed ethnic background, religions, environments and socio-economic stations - I continually find myself at a crossroads searching for the who and the why and constantly questioning the now. My paintings are visual examples of this grappling. They are emotional explorations into thoughts and ideas that help me define and redefine meaning. I take many cues from culture, nature, music and relationships. I study the past and dissect the meaning of memories to make sense of the emotion.”
